Bangladesh General Takes Full Control

DACCA, Bangladesh — Military strongman Maj. Gen. Ziaur Rahman assumed full powers to run Bangladesh as chief martial-law administrator and arrested at least 11 prominent politicians, an official source said yesterday.

The source said former President Khondakar Mushtaque Ahmed was among those arrested for "prejudicial activities against the state."

Western observers said the arrests were apparently sparked by opposition from some politicians to last week's announcement that national elections originally scheduled for February were being postponed.

President Abu Sadat Mohammed Sayem surrendered his position as martial-law administrator to Rahman, and although still in office, is virtually powerless.

Talks on Rhodesia

GENEVA, Switzerland — Black and white delegations at the conference on the future of Rhodesia diverged sharply on how soon to move to full control of the government by the black majority.

Black nationalist leaders Joshua Nkomo and Robert Mugabe introduced proposals under which blacks would have effective control beginning with the interim transition government. Foreign Minister Pieter van der Byl of the present white-minority government insisted on the whites having veto power during the transition period.

[In Salisbury, Rhodesian security forces said that 49 persons had been killed over the past two days in fighting between government forces and guerrillas.]

Spanish Referendum

MADRID—The government television monopoly announced that it will give equal broadcast time to political parties and leaders campaigning against King Jaun Carlos' national referendum on parliamentary elections. A spokesman said Communists and other banned groups on the far left would not be given access to television.

Appeal by Brezhnev

MOSCOW—Soviet Communist Party leader Leonid Brezhnev made a strong appeal to visiting American officials and business leaders for movement in the stalled strategic arms talks and stagnating trade that have marked the end of the Ford administration, Washington Post correspondent Peter Osnos reported.

Brezhnev spoke at a Kremlin banquet attended by U.S. Treasury Secretary William Simon, White House economic aide William Seidman and directors of the U.S.-U.S.S.R. Trade and Economic Council.

While his comments broke no new ground, they did reiterate Moscow's increasing impatience with the current stalemate in outstanding issues, Osnos reported.

Senators to Cuba

HAVANA—U.S. Sens. Floyd Haskell (D-Colo.) and James Abourezk (D-S. Dak.) are on their way to Cuba for a private visit. The two will be here during the installation Thursday of Cuba's first elected National Assembly since the 1959 revolution.

Pledge to Portugal

LISBON—Venezuelan President Carlos Andres Perez, pledging support for Portugal's fledgling democracy, signed an agreement to supply the country with oil on easy credit.

U.S. Commerce Secretary Elliot Richardson arrived for talks on the economic situation. A U.S. spokesman said the visit was not directly connected with the Ford administration's recent approval of a $300 million emergency loan to Portugal.

Peace Prize Recipients

OSLO, Norway—Two women leaders of Northern Ireland's peace movement, who are here to receive a so-called People's Peace Prize of $325,000, had an audience with King Olav.

The women, Mrs. Betty Williams and Miss Mairead Corrigan, said they plan to use the money to benefit children and unemployed in their war-torn homeland.

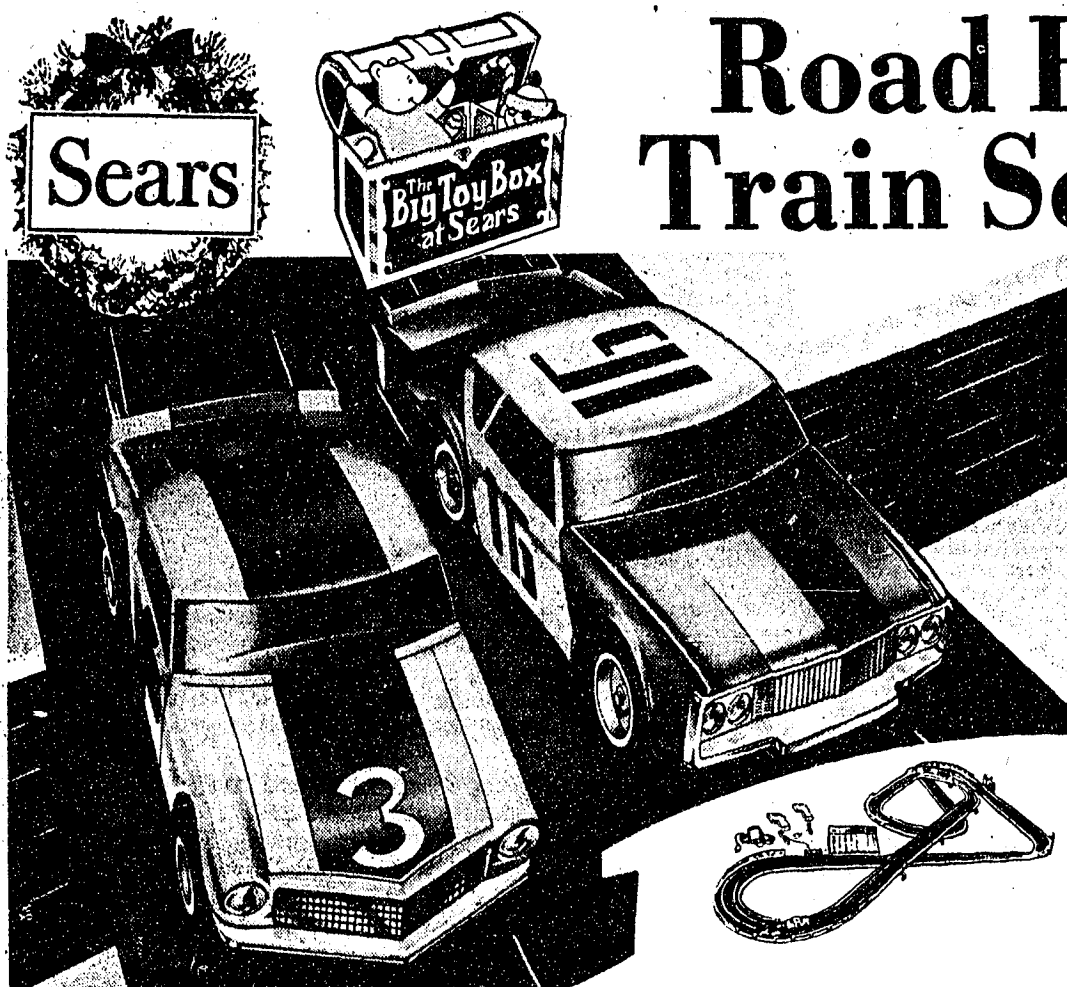

The prize, made up of contributions from private citizens, was organized by Norwegian newspapers after it was discovered that it was too late to nominate the women for the Nobel Peace Prize.

For the Record

• The United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization ended its biennial meeting in Nairobi, Kenya.

• Several hundred black youths set fire to houses of black policemen in Guguletu township. No injuries were reported. Police said the attacks were apparently aimed at policemen believed to have testified about recent racial unrest in South Africa.
